

Strive for Five!

End-Of-Grade test preparation

Strive a Five! is an intensive program for 3rd – 5th graders preparing to take the End-Of-Grade (EOG) Assessments.

This service is offered by our Educational Specialists, all of whom have experience as teachers in our local public school system.

Objectives

The goals of the program are to review all standards taught during the school year, learn test-taking strategies, acquire positive life-long study habits and instill confidence in your child.

- Review Common Core reading standards based on grade level
- Review Common Core math standards based on grade level
- 5th graders only – Review Common Core Science standards
- Learn test-taking strategies such as referencing the text and identifying key information
- Learn ways to manage stress prior to the test day and the day of the test
- Learn positive study habits (notecards, reading out loud, study guides, etc.)
- Tips for parents to support their child leading up to the test and ways to support them the days of the testing

Scheduling

Appointments are available, according to your family's schedule. We recommend at least two 30-45 minute appointments per week, over as much time as possible prior to the EOG test dates.

Before the program begins, a free 10-20 minute phone consultation with the parent occurs to ensure the objectives are customized to your child. At the end of the program, there is an extended 60-minute final session with both the child and the parent.

Cost

Cost may vary based on the number and length of sessions. The sessions are priced at our reduced rate as follows, based on the Educational Services Agreement:

- 30 minute session: $37.50
- 60 minute session: $75.00
